A Murderous Fiend.

The awful murders which occurred last Tuesday night causing so much grief in this community, was the most brutal, the most diabolical deed ever perpetrated in Santa Clara county.

At this late date, we refrain from spreading before our readers a detailed account of the crime. It is already too vividly fixed in the minds of all. The suddenness of the shock which came with the news that Col. R. P. McGlincy, Mrs. McGlincy, her son James Wells and her daughter Mrs. Hattie Dunham to gether with two servants, Miss Minnie Shesler and Robt. Briscoe, had been murdered by James Dunham, the son-in-law, was too severe to need any emphasis at this time. No fewer than a thousand persons, or more, went early to the scene, and their very souls were weighed down by the ghastly sight. That a human being could become so frenzied and so utterly destitute of feeling is beyond comprehension and yet it is a fact. Some have seen a spark of humanity in the heart of the murderer, because the infant child, scarcely a month old, was lying unharmed and asleep by the side of its lifeless mother. It may be true and we hope no other design was meant upon its life and inheritance. The fine home and surroundings only about one mile from Campbell, were all one might ask for, to make both husbands and wives, son and daughter, happy and contented. That, of late, an unhappy state of affairs did exist in a degree, was wholly due to Dunham's habit of thinking nothing from the parental hand or board was good enough for him. It has been a common expression that he married into the family for a home and what he could get out of it. This is but the outgrowth of an altogether too common idea that the world owes every man a living. We are appalled at the lengths one may go in crime when once the mind is turned into reckless and selfish channels. The almost daily occurrences of such dastardly crimes, in some part of the land, is due, in almost every case, to the perpetrator having been denied this or that. Who, he asks, should withhold from him what he wants and when he wants it? Let us all give heed to the lesson of the hour, and so arouse ourselves that we may throw a higher purpose into our own lives, and, when it is possible, help the drifting, the unregarding, the selfish natures about us to realize their danger before it is too late.

THE MURDERER'S VICTIMS.

The family of Col. R. P. McGlincy was one of the best known and most highly respected in Santa Clara county. They were early settlers in our community and were always active in our local affairs. Mr. McGlincy was a very able speaker and on the evening of his death had taken a leading part in a debate at a meeting of the A .P. A. in our town. He had been called upon a number of times to fill important positions in the employ of the county and always proved a most efficient officer. As manager of the Santa Clara county exhibit at the late World's Fair at Chicago he represented the county with great credit. His wife and step-children were also held in highest esteem by a host of friends and acquaintances whose grief at their sudden and tragic death is past expression. Mrs. Dunham, the daughter, was both a beautiful and talented young woman. Before her marriage she took an active part in the social life of our community and was considered a very sweet singer often giving her assistance in musical programs at our social entertainments. Of James Wells, the son and the youngest member of the family, it can be said that no young man has ever lived in the neighborhood who had a wider circle of friends. He took a most active part in social life among the young people of the community in which he lived and was universally popular. The servants, Miss Minnie Shesler and Robert Briscoe, were strangers to most of the people of Campbell but are known to be very quiet and industrious in their habits, and were, no doubt, most faithful helpers in the household in which they were employed.

THE FUNERAL.

The preparations for the funeral of Mr. and Mrs. McGlincy, Mrs. Dunham, James Wells and Robert Brisco were begun on Thursday and late in the evening of that day the bodies were moved from the house to the Congregational church where the services were to be held under the direction of W. L. Woodrow of San Jose, on Friday afternoon. The hour appointed was 2 P. M. but by twelve o'clock carriages were seen gathering from all directions and long before the time for the beginning of the services the streets in the vicinity of the church were crowded with vehicles. After all available space was filled in town the teams were compelled to stop along the principal avenues until long lines of conveyances extended out a considerable distance in every direction. It was probably one of the largest assemblies that ever came together for a similar purpose in California. The instance of five persons, the victims of the murderous hand of a single assassin, being burried at one time from such a quiet and peaceful villiage is probably without parallel in history. People flocked to witness the scene from all parts of the country. The funeral was conducted under the auspicies of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows of which order Col. McGlincy and James Wells were members. Many of the members of San Jose and Santa Clara lodges were in attendance and Morning Light Lodge of Campbell turned out in a body. All the pall-bearers, of which there were thirty, were Odd Fellows. Those who bore the different caskets were as follows:

With Colonel R. P. McGlincy—J. H. Corrick, P. Walker, G. W. Welch, G. B. Johnson, H. B. Hall, J. C. Lindmer.

With Mrs. McGlincy—F. T. Benson, T. W. Carroll, A. Phillips, Charles Parker, Kenneth Morrison, W. A. Pepper.

With James Wells—H. R. Wade, T. E. Lovelady, J. P. Jones, C. L. most beautiful design. The San Jose Grange presented a piece in the form of an open book with the names "Brother" and "Sister" worked across the pages. The Odd Fellows gave a pillow of roses, two by three feet, at the top of which was inscribed "Vengence is mine, I will repay saith the Lord." One of the most beautiful and appropriate designs was presented by the Cambrian Literary Society, the piece representing a chair about two and a half feet in heighton the back of Willett, Frank Duncan, T. B. Gardner.

With Mrs. Hattie Dunham—W. J. Huff, Charles E. Cottell. A. R. Morrison, D. I. Maddox, J. J. Miller, John W. Roy.

With Robert Briscoe—J. S. Fay, W. W. McGee, W. E. Haynes, W. F. Bracher, J. G. Parks, B. F. Rucker.

The floral offerings were almost innumerable and many of them of which was inscribed "Jim." The vacant chair was a mute expression of the sorrow of the society in the loss of its beloved president, James Wells.

The ceremonies as conducted by Past Grand Master P. F. Gosbey acting as Noble Grand and N. H. Hyland as Chaplain were most impressive. The procession to the cemetery was upwards of three miles in length not less than 400 carriages taking part it. The ritual service of the lodge was concluded at the cemetery and the caskets deposited side-by-side in their last resting place. The floral pieces as they were placed upon the graves presented a most beautiful appearance, all the graves being completely covered.

Our space will not permit us relating more of the details of this sadest of events in the history of our community this week but there may be more to be said upon it in our next number.

Some miscreant very ruthlessly stole the eyes out of the head of the camel at the drier last week. If the person having the eyes in his possession will kindly leave the same at the Visitor office we will see that he gets his reward.

Howard Buffington took a very hard fall from a bicycle at Azule Springs on Tuesday. While going down a steep hill he lost control of his machine and was thrown some distance to the ground. His right hip was so severely bruised that he has been able to walk about only with the greatest difficulty since the accident.

The memorial service at the M. E. church Sunday morning last was largely attended. Owing to Rev. Angwin's illness the sermon was delivered by Rev. Wm. Windsor. The decorations of flags, bunting, flowers etc., were quite elaborate and the ladies deserve great credit for the taste displayed in beautifying the room in which the services were held.

THE VISITOR AS AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM.

That the VISITOR has great value as an advertising medium will not be questioned by those who know the class of people among whom it circulates. The citizens of Campbell and the country tributary thereto are very widely known as the most prosperous and enterprising people of the banner county of the State. They are a thrifty people, not given to extravagance, but as a rule able to buy and pay for what they need. The merchants who secure their trade get their best cusomers. The VISITOR, being the only local paper, is by far the best means of reaching and securing their trade and nowhere will your advertising bring you better returns for the money invested. GREAT catastrophies have visited our country the past week.

OWING to circumstances in connection with the events of the past week we deemed it advisable to delay our paper getting out on Monday instead of Saturday.

THE following statement with regard to the saving to fruit growers by co-operation has been secured from one who is well enformed as to the working of our union driers and should encourage our people in supporting them:

"As a result of co-operation the cost of drying prunes has been reduced from ten dollars per green ton to less than one dollar, as shown by the figures of the Campbell Fruit Growers Union the past season. This includes labor, fuel, lye, etc. The fruit grower thus gets his fruit dried for less than half what it costs him to pick it off the ground. The saving in the purchase of lye, sulphur, sacks, twine, etc., is very great as the quantities used can be secured at the lowest wholesale prices. The cost of sale is also greatly reduced. The fruit union takes the prunes from the grower's wagon and delivers them into the bins of the ware house properly graded for the very small sum of $1.20 per green ton. Counting out a little more than 20cts for grading leaves less than $1.00 for drying the fruit."

Commencement Exercises at College Park.

Time and space forbid a complete report of the delightful programs rendered during commencement week at the University of the Pacific. There were eight graduates from the Conservatory of Music who received diplomas and the degree of Bachelor of Music, all ladies. A diploma from the College of Liberal Arts, with the degree of Bachelor of Letters was conferred upon Henry Trantham.

At the Declamation Contest on Wednesday, the Shively prize of twenty-five dollars, was awarded to Geo. B. Kuns, whose recitation, "Toussant L'Overture" was finely given. The awarding committee made honorable mention of the recitation of Bradford I. Crittenden entitled "The English Sparrow Must Go" and also of that of Newell O. Morse who recited "Treason's Reward."

The Society address of H. E. Milnes on Wednesday evening deserves special mention for the thought it contained. He chose for his subject the "Majesty of the Mind," asserting that "the only enduring monuments in the world which the sharp tooth of time cannot destroy nor the rust of forgetfulness deface, are those erected by the mind." He earnestly enjoined the members of the society to be not content with things of low estate, but to climb the heights though the way be rough and weary. A crown awaits those who gain the summit. Mr Henry Trantham was presented with the Society diploma.

The Cross Oratorical Contest on Thursday morning was the crowning feature of the week. A prize of one hundred dollars in cash, the gift of Hon. C. W. Cross, of San Francisco, had been offered to that student of collegiate grade who should deliver the best original oration. The competitors for the prize were the five successful contestants for the Essay Prizes. It was required that each oration must contain not less than 1200 nor more than 1800 words and must be presented to the Dean on or before April 1, '96, accompanied with a written statement that no assistance had been received in its composition. The orations were especially forceful and well rendered, a credit to both student and faculty. They were as follows: "The Power of Music," Miss Laura L. Shearer; "The Ideal Man," Henry Trantham "The Voice of Truth," B. F. Williams; "The Youth of America," W. F. Hall; "America's Call," Miss May Stewart. The last named oration was especially well written and in its delivery Miss Stewart was truly eloquent. She captured the one hundred dollar prize to the evident satisfaction of the audience.

The closing words to the class by Dean Cross were fitting as well as touching. He won the hearts of the audience as they realized the principles of the man who is throwing his heart and life into the upbuilding of the University and stamping the student mind with impressions of highest worth and character.

THE MURDERER STILL AT LARGE.

James Dunham, the murderer, has thus far escaped the vigilance of the officers and is still supposed to be in hiding in the vicinity of Mt. Hamilton. Hundreds of armed men have been scouring the mountains without result. Bloodhounds have been secured to hunt him down but have failed to find him. One of the latest theories is that he has killed himself and that his dead body is lying somewhere in the bottom of Indian Gulch. It is believed by some that he succeeded in getting out of the gulch and is far away from where the officers are seeking him. It is to be hoped that if either of these theories are correct it will soon be known and the minds of the people set at rest.

C. H. CHEATHAM.

Alliance, Ohio, Oct. 12, 1895.

Acme Cycle Co., Elkhart, Ind.

Dears Sirs:—Having given my wheel a good trial, am ready to say I am exceedingly well pleased and thank you very kindly for the favor and privilege you have given me. I showed the wheel to one of our prominent bicycle agents, who did his best to sell me a wheel, and he said after taking a short ride on it that it was a fine wheel; and I know if the material is as good as the finish, I will never regret my bargain.

Yours truly

The Kindergarten.

The kindergarten started some weeks ago on South First street was closed for a short time but has again been opened having secured rooms near the drier on Central avenue. It was started with the expectation of making it a public institution supported by individual subscription but as this plan proved impracticable the teacher, Miss Elsie Higgins, has been induced by those interested to continue it as a private school charging $2 00 per month for each pupil. At present there are but twelve in attendance but it is hoped that the number may be increased to fifteen or twenty within the month. Miss Higgins has proved herself a most efficient teacher and should be given every encouragement in her undertaking. A visit to the kindergarten will convince anyone of its value to the community.

A Wedding.

MARRIED—At College Park on Wednesday last at 2 P. M. by T. B. Hopkins, Mr. Nelson H. Weaver of Alma and Miss Mary M. Fay of Campbell. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple took the train for San Francisco on a brief wedding tour after which they will take up their residence on a mountain ranch near Alma. Miss Fay has resided at Campbell for some time past and has many friends and acquaintances in our community. Mr. Weaver has a ranch near Alma upon which he resides and is a young man of sterling character. While Miss Fay's departure is greatly regretted by the young people of Campbell all join in wishing her much happiness in her new home.

W. C. T. U. COLUMN.

The members of the W. C. T. U. of Campbell cordially invite a perusal of this column the matter for which is furnished by members of the society.

They Must Go.

The edict has gone forth that there must be a divorcing of the grocery and the saloon. City after city have taken action against these places, and have caused a separation of the two. Men will look on with some degree of indifference, to the ruination of their own sex, but will become aroused when women and children are in danger of being blighted by the same evil.

In the fight against the corner grocery, the novel sight is presented of the temperance worker and the saloon-keeper clasping hands and standing side by side in the contest. The latter actuated by a selfish motive, is opposed to liquors being sold in groceries, as they draw custom from his place; so the grocer who sells liquor is opposed by the moral as well as the immoral forces, and there is no resting place for his weary head.

It only requires more agitation and a little more persistency to abate the evil entirely.

One of the most brilliant of women said she owed her ruin to the grocery where liquor was sold. When she could not go to get it herself, she would punish her children and make them obtain it for her. There are hundreds of just such cases in this city, and every one should cry out against the monster.

Many a man puts his family into the dark to help the saloon pay its gas bill.—Ram's Horn.

Christianity stands for justice, and justice is a word that has to do with social relations.

The corner-grocery where liquors are kept ruins more women and children than the saloon.

The greatest concern of a government should be how to make good citizens and to keep them so.

The fathers of to-day will be held responsible for leaving to their children the terrible liquor traffic.

A Handy Man.

People always seem to be more or less interested in seeing men at work on new buildings. On a building under construction up town there was a man up on the fourth or fifth story who was hoisting water from the ground. He had a beam rigged out, with a fall at the end of it, and a bucket attached to the fall. There was a barrel on the ground below, and when he wanted water he lowered the bucket down to the barrel, dipped it himself from above and hoisted away. He didn't want any help; all he asked was to have the barrel kept full, and he would do the rest.—New York Sun.

Prehistoric Literature In America.

The only evidence that has ever been found going to show that the prehistoric cave dwellers of America had a written language was discovered for the first time in the year 1891. In the summer of that year Professors Shaler and Warren, the former of Yale college, made a thorough exploration of what is known as Falling Spring cave, in the Sequatchie valley, state of Tennessee, and therein found incontrovertible evidence that the prehistoric Americans were a race of civilized beings, possessing a literature and an alphabet. In one of the galleries of the cave they found the body of a human being, transformed to stone by the salts and silica in the dripping water, and near by a large oval slab, upon which were carved 467 words. In all these words, some of which contained nine and ten letters, only 32 different characters were used, proving conclusively that their alphabet was one of 32 letters only.—St. Louis Republic.

Cambrian Items.

Mrs. J. Tom is improving.

Ralph Bohnett went up to his brother's ranch near Mountain View on Wednesday morning returning the same day.

Mrs. M. M. Hanger was on the sick list the first of the week.

The Cambrian school will close for the summer vacation about June 12th.

Miss Blanch Hanger visited Pearl Bohnett Saturday and Sunday last.

The regular meeting of the Cambrian Literary and Social Club was held on Saturday evening last. A short program was given consisting of the following numbers: Duet, Misses Mary and Gertrude Drake; Impromptu Address, Allen Plimpton; Recitation Miss Cora Dean.
